

HAWAIIAN WOMAN VICTIM OF SAN FRANCISCO MURDER

SENATE PASSES INSANITY BILL SECOND READING

The insanity bill from the House, as amended by the Senate health committee, was the one important subject of consideration in the Senate this morning. It was steered on second reading by President Smith from the floor and Chairman Coelho of the health committee. This bill amends the law that has been in force about sixty years in the Hawaiian Islands, under which a district magistrate on the evidence of a physician committed a person to the insane asylum. This bill gives jurisdiction to circuit judges as well as insanity, with an appeal to three commissioners of whom two must be licensed physicians or surgeons. There was a further appeal to the Circuit Court of the First Circuit, and jury if demanded, but this was eliminated this morning. The sewer assessment bill was deferred, several bills passed third reading, several second reading and several given to committees.

THE SENATE. FIFTY-SECOND DAY.

A bunch of bills came up from the House and went on the order. In a case of non-concurrence with Senate amendments, the president appointed as Senate conferees Fairchild, Quinn and Coelho. Makekau introduced a bill to amend Act 50 of the Laws of 1907.

REPORTS.

Fairchild presented a report of the committee on taxation, recommending the passage of House bill providing for an annual license upon the business of transmitting messages by wireless telegraph.

Fairchild presented reports of the ways and means committee, recommending the passage of House bill to amend the law relating to stamp duties and House bill providing for the custody of certain special deposits amounting to $5775.18.

Fairchild from the same committee returned House bill providing for increase of salaries of officers of the City and County of Honolulu, recommending its passage. Moore did not concur.

All tabled for consideration with the bills.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

Senate bill to provide for the assessment of property benefited by the Honolulu sewer system was read a third time. The president asked that action be deferred until Chillingworth was present, as he desired to be heard on the bill. Moore discovered an omission and moved that further consideration of the bill be deferred until tomorrow. Carried.

Senate bill appropriating $1250 for the Public Lands department came up for third reading. It was stated that the House had passed a similar bill. Coelho had wanted to amend the bill so as to cover an item for the extradition of Y. Abe, accused of forgery, the grand jury having recommended such proceedings. He now read a letter from the Attorney General and, abandoning his proposed amendment, moved that the bill pass. Carried. Harvey, Quinn and Woods voting against it.

Senate bill relating to the transportation of lepers passed third reading unanimously.

House bill relating to terms of circuit courts. House bill relating to proof and entry of default in civil cases. House bill to provide for expenses of district courts and House bill relating to powers of circuit courts were referred to the judiciary committee. House bill amending the loan bill of 1903 and House bill relating to a sinking fund were referred to the ways and means committee. House bill to amend section 1063, R. L., as amended in 1905, was referred to the health committee.

House bill providing for an annual license for the business of wireless telegraph passed second reading.

House bill relating to stamp duties passed second reading.

House bill to provide for the custody of gold and silver certificates and postal savings bank balance, the total being $5775.18, passed second reading and was referred to the judiciary committee.

House bill relating to insanity was considered on second reading. President Smith called Vice President Kalama to the chair, to enable him to take part in the discussion of the measure. There was some confusion owing to the fact that there were different bills on the subject in the hands of members. Amendments were made as recommended by the health committee of the Senate.

Makekau moved an amendment, which was adopted, to strike out a provision making the subject of investigation for insanity pay the costs of an appeal.

On motion of Knudsen the provision for an appeal from the commissioners to the Circuit Court of the First Circuit, recommended by the health committee, was struck out.

As amended the bill passed second reading.
